"IT'S DELAMORE – so it must be summer!"

Delamore, an imposing house set on the fringes of Dartmoor, was built in 1859. The superb gardens which are rarely open to the public were laid out at a similar time and have undergone major restoration in recent times. Seen at their best during May, they are an ideal backdrop for sculpture large and small, from Henry Moore Foundation grant recipients to emerging artists. The light rooms make a superb gallery for paintings and indoor sculptures. Open every day in May, visitors are welcome to browse and perhaps buy one of the many pieces created by local, national, and international artists. Also visit Dartmoor's newest "pre-historic" artefact, the incredible Cromlech!

Delamore Arts welcomes the South West Academy of Fine & Applied Art - Academician's Annual Exhibition - in the Delamore Stables Gallery

PAINTINGS & SCULPTURE

Superb works from over a hundred sculptors and painters will be on display in the house and gardens and, via a short walk, the South West Academy exhibition is free to visit at the recently opened Stables Gallery. There can be few better settings than Delamore in which to admire the work of some of our finest artists.
